Advantage Controls offers a variety of digital platform services to help the professional water treater save time, stay connected to their accounts and access critical data.

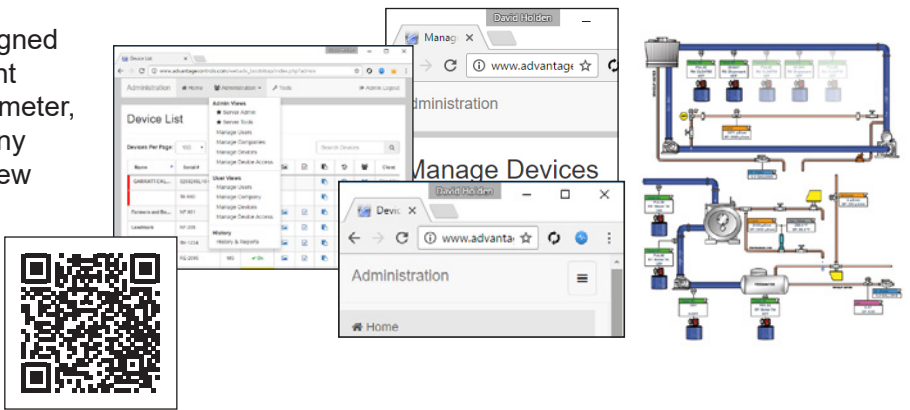

Cloud-based manual service reporting is available through MyTechReports for managing all of your accounts' service visits.

Web-capable MegaTron controllers can be accessed anytime anywhere with any web browsing device using WebAdvantage® cloud-based connection, alarming and history management tools.

System Builder makes it easy to select and build a complete tower or boiler controller system including custom pre-fabricated panels and accessories.

AirAdvantage gives users an easy to access app on their smart phone to quickly access most of our services and more.

WebAdvantage® works for you by automatically emailing your custom designed reports to whom you want when you want them. Reports can include probe, water meter, relay and notepad history along with many other items. The exclusive “summary” view combines important information from all of your connected MegaTrons in a single view when you log in to WebAdvantage®. Email alerts from the server ensure that users are notified of any and all problems, including alarm conditions, loss of communications connection or loss of power.

MyTechReports (MTR) is a cloud based reporting Software as a Service (SaaS) designed by water treatment professionals for water treatment professionals. Water treaters and their customers are able to save lab results, controller data, provide graphing, and store documents such as inspection videos, training material, and SDS/ PDS sheets, etc. all from one location.

System Builder
 Selecting a cooling tower/boiler controller or building a complete system is easy with the new System Builder. A complete list of part numbers and a pre-fab drawing is provided to match your specific requirements. Submit for quotes or you can print specifications and save multiple builds for future applications.

Air Advantage
 Access WebAdvantage®, System Builder, product manuals, and other water treatment tools all from one place. Available for free Apple iOS download.
